

WORST. SONG. EVER.

Calling all music lovers...and haters.

Announcing a just-for-fun competition open to performers of all styles, levels, & abilities: from professional musicians, to hobbyists, to hacks. If you can carry a tune, strum a few chords, or better, (or worse)...then this event's for you!

There's been some bad pop music over the decades. Who can forget MacArthur Park, Feelings, Morning Train (9 to 5), Wannabe, or Call Me Maybe?

Choose a popular song that—in your own subjective opinion*—you personally believe to be one of the worst songs ever written. Practice it in your own style. The idea is not to play a song badly, but rather to PLAY A BAD SONG WELL! Or weirdly. Whatever. You might score with the audience if you look & sound like the original artist, or if you play it like you hate it, or if you transform bad source material through your own unique musicianship into something kind of good. How you interpret the material is up to you!

Then, on Saturday November 17 @ 8:00pm, you'll perform it live at the Old Labor Hall in Barre. Be sure to PRACTICE, REHEARSE, & TAKE YOUR BEST SHOT AT THE WORST MATERIAL, because the audience gets to vote, & we'll bestow trophies for first, second, & third place!

What to do	What NOT to do

*Although WORST. SONG. EVER. is subjective, be aware...
Performers do best when they cover well known stinkers.

Turn on those BAD SONGS.
When all hope is gone...
BAD SONGS say so much!”*
