

WORST. SONG. EVER.

Calling all music lovers. And haters.

It's time once again for our annual, weekend-before-Thanksgiving, just-for-fun 'competition' that's open to performers of all styles, levels, & abilities: from musicians, to hobbyists, to hacks. If you can carry a tune, strum a few chords, or better, (or worse)...then this event's FOR YOU!

There's been some bad music on the radio over the decades... Treat Her Like a Lady? Tonight's the Night?? Beautiful Crazy???

Choose a popular song that you personally believe to be one of the worst songs ever written, & then practice it in your own style. The idea is not to play a song badly, but to play a bad song well. Or weirdly. Whatever. You might score with the audience if you make an attempt to look & sound like the original artist, or try transforming bad source material through your own unique musicianship into something kind of good, or even if you just play it like you hate it. How you interpret the material is up to you.

Then, on Saturday November 21 @ 8:00pm, you'll perform it live at the Old Labor Hall in Barre. Be sure to PRACTICE, REHEARSE, & TAKE YOUR BEST SHOT AT THE WORST MATERIAL, because the audience votes & bestows trophies for 1st, 2nd, & 3rd.
